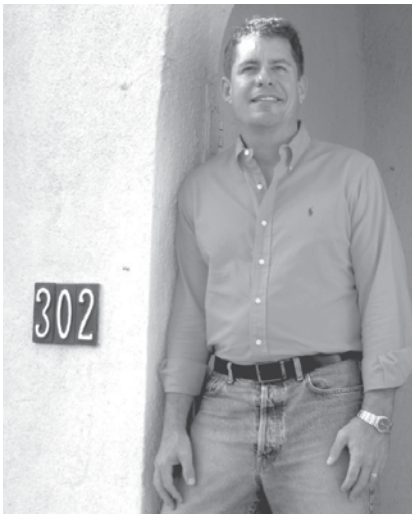
the PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Project Willo-Way

There are so many projects going on in and around Willo, it's difficult to keep up. Southwest Gas and their vendor, Arizona Pipeline, are almost through increasing the supply lines in our southern section, and promise to complete it by May 4th. The restoration project is planned for completion by June 1st. Once completed, The Streets and Transportation Department has offered to take multiple runs at 3rd Avenue to clean up the blue stake "graffiti."

We have been working with APS to remove the dead telephone poles throughout the neighborhood for what seems like years. The holdup has been the need to move other utilities' equipment from the telephone poles to replacement poles. Special thanks to Cox Communications for getting the changes made as soon as they were made aware – this was completed in less than two weeks. We hope that Century Link will operate quickly as promised, so that APS can begin final removal.

Continuing our own projects, the neighborhood will be purchasing picnic tables and benches to go into Broadmoor Park, in the 500 block of Lewis. Last year we put in a new solar sprinkler system, seeded grass, and planted three new trees in the park. Take a walk or bike ride over to see the progress. As this is a more secluded area, we expect mostly Willo residents to find and share the space.



BRAD BRAUER (MONTE VISTA)
Willo Neighborhood President

With all of these projects happening in and around Willo, this is probably a good time to look at our own homes and properties to see what can be done to spruce up the neighborhood. Springtime is unfortunately a great time for weeds and we're starting to see quite a few of them growing quite tall around Willo. Please see what you can do to remove weeds and tall grass, and make minor touch ups around your home to make Willo shine. Don't forget the alleys and sidewalks, as the City does not take care of these areas, they are our responsibility. Keeping our properties clean helps our property values immensely. Until next time see you 'round the 'hood.. W

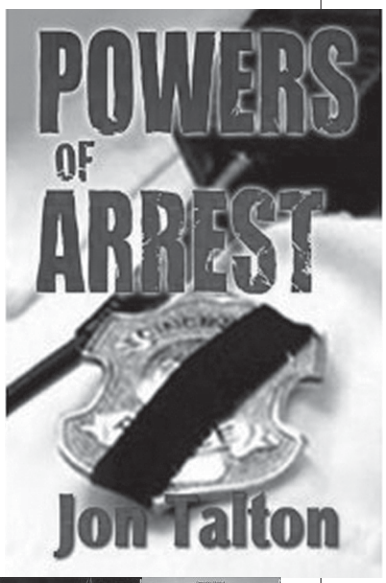
Whatever Happened to Our Neighbor Holly!

Author Jon Talton, whose David Mapstone Mysteries are set in the Willo neighborhood, takes us to the Midwest for Powers of Arrest, the sequel to The Pain Nurse.

Jon's award-winning work has been widely praised by the critics. The Washington Post BookWorld called Concrete Desert, "More intelligent and rewarding than most contemporary mysteries." In a starred review, Booklist called it, "a stunning debut." The Chicago Tribune lauded Camelback Falls for its "twisty and crafty" plot. For Dry Heat, Publishers Weekly wrote, "Taut prose helps tighten the screws, and the winning, sensitive portrayal of the Mapstones – both of them a relief after too many hard-nosed PIs who are all gristle and no brain – lends credibility to the noirish narrative."



Join Jon for a central Phoenix signing, 6 p.m. on Saturday May 19th at Urban Beans, 3508 N. 7th St., just north of Osborn. It should be lots of fun! W

Willo Historic Neighborhood Association Board
The Willo Historic Neighborhood Association Board was established in the early 1980s. The members are volunteers and are elected every two years in March. The association does not collect dues and does not act like a Home Owner's Association (HOA). Rather, its function is to serve the collective well being of the neighborhood. Meetings are typically held the second Thursday of each month at 6:30 pm at the Fairfield Inn and Suites Hotel. All residents of Willo are invited to attend. Agendas are available online prior to the meeting at www.willohistoricdistrict.com.

Inside Willo* newsletter
This free newsletter is published monthly (excluding July & August) by a committee headed by Willo volunteers. Willo neighbors are encouraged to submit neighborhood news, tidbits, photos and articles (between 250-350 words) by the 10th of each month. We reserve the right to: edit as needed, attribute to the submitting neighbor (with the street they live on where appropriate), determine which issue the information may be printed and use content on our website and in neighborhood promotional materials. The Willo Neighborhood Association is not responsible for nor endorses the editorial content in Inside Willo. A copy of Inside Willo is also posted to the Willo website each month.

A Happy Ending

Julie Hoffheins

Sophie was found running on the light rail tracks a few weeks ago. We had a small time frame to find her forever home, as the woman who found her was moving to Alaska! We found what we thought was a great forever home, but Sophie was left alone in the backyard, and dug her way out under the fence. Panicked, a three day search commenced, and Sophie was found by an angel and the East Side Maricopa County Animal Shelter!

Scared from her adventure, but happy to be found, Sophie was spayed, vaccinated and licensed for Rabies, just received her 3 in 1 combo shot, and is micro-chipped.

We are now looking for Sophie's FOREVER home. Could this be you, or someone you know?

ABOUT SOPHIE:

She is super friendly with people, approximately 3 to 4 years old (according to the pound). Sophie weighs 20 lbs and she gets along with small dogs, don't know about cats yet, unsure about large dogs but is probably OK if the large dog isn't aggressive - just may need an introduction. She is house trained - and can use a doggie door, she is not destructive, sleeps through the night, does not bark a lot, is not food aggressive toward people. Should be OK with children 5 and up as long as they don't tease her.

Just spayed, just received Rabies Shot and 3 in 1. Has Microchip. (Spay, microchip and vaccination records provided to her new owner once she is adopted)

Sophie may have a little bit of separation anxiety. Her foster mom is home during most of the day, and Sophie is able to run and play as she pleases, but prefers to follow her foster mom around the house. We believe that Sophie may have dug out of her previous yard due to the anxiety, so this will be something that her new family will have to be willing to work with her on. She obviously hasn't had the best life so far at the hands of humans, so she needs to know that she is in her permanent home and that she can trust her new parents.

The other thing is that she needs an ultra secure yard since we know she is capable of digging out. And locked gates!!

WHAT HER FOREVER FAMILY MAY LOOK LIKE?

Sophie's new family will most importantly want to love and protect Sophie for the rest of her life. They will have a secure yard with a block fence, and locked gates. Sophie's new family won't leave her out in the yard for extended periods of time, especially when it's hot, or cold outside. We would love if Sophie had a new dog brother or sister so that she has company during the day while her family is away. Sophie's new family would also get her established with a veterinarian, and take her for her yearly exams and vaccinations as needed. Sophie's new family would have an ID tag with their phone number on it before taking Sophie home, and would also be okay with a "home check" by her foster mom and those involved with her rescue.

I just KNOW that Sophie's forever home is out there, and that someone with some extra love and patience to give to this deserving little girl is out there somewhere! Sophie is just so sweet, and obviously wants to please her humans and just be loved. She needs help learning to trust again, knowing that there will always be food for her, and knowing that her new family is going to protect her and keep her safe. W

If you or someone you know might be Sophie's angel, please email me so that we can arrange for you to meet Sophie.

Spanish Architecture is Beautifully Set Off with Local Blooms

Mara Reynolds (Palm Lane)

Mike and Cindy Moore's home at 66 W. Wilshire looks like a quaint Spanish casita. The immaculate house and yard are a vision of sweetness. It welcomes you from first glance with the sculptured stucco doorway and the patio table and chairs perfect for a cup of ice tea under the colored umbrella. When they moved in they felt like their cute Spanish bungalow was too small, so with the help of Morgan Holt of Earth Art Landscape and Design Inc. they increased the square footage by adding three distinct outdoor living spaces. Not only is there the backyard patio with fireplace, there is also a lovely patio on the west side of the home that is great for entertaining, and if it is a larger gathering they use the driveway as a great overflow party space. The front yard is landscaped with bushes and plants, such as the Valentine Emu bush, Twisted Myrtle, and Stokes Holly, adding pops of color with Dallas Red Lantana, hot pink Bouganvillea as well as miniature roses. To the left of the door is a large Hibiscus that they originally wanted to pull out until it captivated them with its cornflower blue blooms. No matter where you look both in front and in back of walls there are plants to be seen from all angles. To add another visual element they worked with Ray McKinney of Gates by Ray Inc. and created a beautiful metal screen door with matching gates to the side and back yard. Mike and Cindy are actually Arizona ranchers but had a great reason to make Willo home. A grandson right here in our neighborhood was all it took to bring the ranchers to the city and we are grateful for that. Mike and Cindy will receive a $25 dollar gift card from our generous friends at Southwest Gardener. W

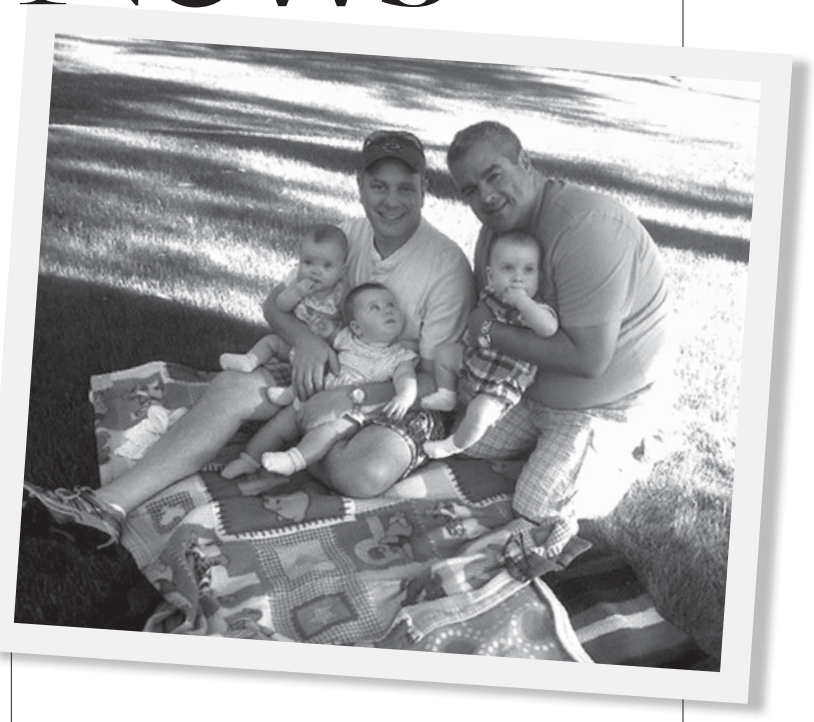
UPDATE ON WILLO TRIPLETTS

the SHORTS SECTION

Aaron Bell and Cid Cuecha Have Good News and Bad News



First the good news: The triplets born last fall are now about 7 ½ months old (adjusted age 6 months due to being premature), and are busy working on rolling over, trying to sit-up, and coordinating themselves for crawling... the dads are definitely not ready for them to be mobile yet! Triplet teething is in full effect, with rivers of baby-drool, and some not-so-happy moments when the teething pain gets the best of them. They are thankfully sleeping through the night – their spring present to their ads apparently! They are mastering eating cereal from a spoon, and beginning veggies, although of course, they still prefer their bottle. Overall, they are very healthy and happy, smiling and laughing all the time, and Daddy and Papa are loving every minute of parenthood.

Now the bad...sad, news: The cul de sac on Lewis has become quiet. Sid and Aaron have found a bigger home and the family has moved to the Royal Palm neighborhood (10th Avenue & Bulter). There were tears all along Lewis Ave...and Vernon, too, but we wish Aaron, Cid and the kids well in their new home. They promise they will be back often to visit their Willo neighbors. W

Better Buildings

Spring is Kitten Birthing Season

Please help control the feral cat population in Willo – it's free!

Andrea Katsenes (Vernon)

Each street in Willo has them - neighbor cats, living under our homes, in the alleys, and in our yards, that don't seem to belong to anyone. They just live in Willo and are fed by the generosity of residents. You may be bothered by our four legged neighbors, but they add great value to our neighborhood by helping us control the rodent population, and by nature, they "stake out" their territory and keep other feral cats from coming onto the Willo street they occupy.

It is important for neighbors to coexist with our furry neighbors and help the feral cats live healthy and happily by controlling their population through spaying/neutering.

Professionals illustrate that as feral cats reproduce- sometimes up to 12 new kittens per year from one cat — the food supply they compete for declines, so many go undernourished. Additionally, with more and more cats concentrated in one location, disease and competition become a negative issue. Taking the time to spay/neuter the existing feral cats that are living in Willo will help us control other cats from coming into our neighborhood, and will stop the number of feral cats in Willo from increasing, assuring that the current cats live a healthier life.

IT'S AS EASY AS 1, 2, 3!

1 Contact the Animal Defense Leagues' Trap, Neuter, Return hotline at (602) 265-7729 or Karen Anderson at KAnderson@ADLAZ.org. Provide your name and Willo address to have expenses covered by the Willo pilot program-it's free.

2 Obtain traps from TNR if needed or contact Willo neighbor, Lisa Burke (Cambridge) at Pnutlm@gmail.com for coaching and/or trap loans.

3 Take feral cats into assigned vet for surgery and after 24 hours, return altered feral cats to the street/Willo location where they previously lived.

The Willo neighborhood has a pilot program in partnership with the Animal Defense League of Arizona's "Trap, Neuter, Return" (TNR hotline) program, that has spayed/neutered several Willo cats to date. This program is FREE to Willo neighbors.

To participate, Willo neighbors should contract the Trap, Neuter, Return program at (602) 265-7729, or contact Karen with TNR directly at KAnderson@ADLAZ.org, to make an appointment with local, participating veterinarians for the cat's spay/neuter surgery. The TNR folks also have traps available for loan to neighbors. The Willo neighbor will have to provide a Willo address to TNR and be willing to trap and bring the cat(s) into the vet for the surgery. You will also be required to return the cat to the neighborhood where it was captured after surgery. Again, the costs for the surgeries will be covered by the Willo neighborhood - at no cost to the Willo neighbor.

If we spay/neuter the feral cats that currently live in Willo, and return them to our neighborhood after surgery, they will continue to live in Willo, helping us detour rodent overpopulation and will STOP the continuous birth of homeless kittens.

Visit www.SpayNeuterHotline.org for additional information or call Karen Anderson w/ TNR at (602) 265-7729.

TRASH OPINION

Move Recycle Pick Up to Alleys

the SHORTS SECTION

Dr. Ruth Ann Marston

Eliminating street pick up increases the beauty and value of homes.

Waste collection belongs in alleys! Now is the time to improve neighborhood property values by having our street collection of recycle moved to alleys along with trash collection. 30,000+ Phoenix homeowners have alleys and many more want waste pick up moved to alleys now.

NOW IS THE TIME – the City of Phoenix will begin same-day trash and recycle collection in July.

Areas like the historic Story Neighborhood have already made the change – Shouldn't we all?

LET'S INCREASE HOME VALUES:

◆ Eliminate the unsightly blue barrels from our streets.

◆ Avoid collection trucks' damage to street trees.

◆ Eliminate the "red flags" of empty barrels in front saying residents may be away.

◆ More and safer on-street parking. Barrels do not take spaces. Cars are not endangered.

The Encanto Citizens Association has already sent a letter to our Mayor and City Council persons requesting that the city move the blue barrels for recycling from streets to alleys wherever possible. W

30,000
Phoenix households have alleys and could have alley pick up of both their trash and recycle. Make Phoenix safer and more beautiful. Sign the petition now at: http://www.change.org/petitions/city-of-phoenix-move-collection-of-recycles-to-alleys

Arizona's Centennial

ESTABLISHING A COUNCIL-MANAGER GOVERNMENT

This was an auspicious step in the state's history, and in the following year, the City of Phoenix took an equally important one. At a special election on October 11, 1913, the people of Phoenix, by a vote of nearly two to one, ratified a new charter. The charter gave Phoenix the council-manager form of government. Thus, Phoenix became one of the first cities in the nation to adopt this progressive form of government.

Phoenix has the type of charter which gives home rule to a city, but it is not home rule in the complete sense of the word. Courts have ruled that if the Legislature passes a law which concerns cities and towns, the court determines if the law is of state-wide interest or of municipal or local concern. If the law is of state-wide interest, it is binding on the City of Phoenix, even though it contravenes some provision of the charter.

Therefore, the government of the City of Phoenix is operated by authority of the powers granted by its charter, as limited by the Legislature. This is in contrast to the operation of the government of cities and towns that do not have charters but operate by the general statutes of the state relating to cities and towns.

An election, as provided for in the new charter, was held on March 19, 1914, with the following results:

MAYOR

George U. Young..... 2336 votes
Ernest W. Lewis..... 1835 votes

COMMISSIONERS

Joseph Cope..... 2618 votes
Peter Corpstein..... 2131 votes
Michael J. Foley..... 1950 votes
Frank Woods..... 1933 votes
Victor R. Norris..... 1873 votes
George Norman McBean..... 1744 votes
L. D. Dameron..... 1617 votes
Harry A. Diehl..... 1461 votes

In the presence of Thomas J. Prescott, on April 17, 1914, the new Mayor and the winning four commissioners took their oaths of office. Thus began a third form of government for Phoenix. The late William Addison Farish, a widely known civil engineer, was selected as the first city manager. City officials appointed by Farish, according to the provisions of the new charter, were the following:

C.M. Cooper..... Auditor
George D. Christy..... Attorney
J. C. C.H. Boone..... Treasurer
John McBride..... Magistrate
George Brisbois..... Chief of Police

GROWING INTO A METROPOLIS

With the advent of statehood, Phoenix, as well as Arizona, had come of age. The casual, easy growth that characterized a farming community slowly came to a stop. Phoenix began to grow into a young metropolis. At the end of its first eight years under statehood, Phoenix was no longer a town - it was an important city of 29,053. Two thousand youngsters were attending Phoenix Union High School in 1920. They would throw each other into Jack Swilling's first canal, which ran through the campus and had become the "Town Ditch." A total of 1,080 buildings went up that year. Among them was Arizona's first skyscraper, the Heard Building.

In those eight years, Phoenix also developed the makings of its first political scandal - the $1,300,000 bond issue of 1919 to build a redwood pipeline from the Verde River to Phoenix. The pipeline was finished in 1920, but never worked too well. Today, the portion of that redwood that isn't still underground serves to form walls for the houses of the Indians living near Fort McDowell.

Sky Harbor Airport was just getting started in 1934.

By 1930, the size of Phoenix nearly doubled again with a 48,118 census count. There were 120 miles of sidewalks and 161 miles of streets - 77 with pavement. The public library had 51,000 books, and the police force had 70 men. The budget for the city came to $2,033,886. Another pipeline was built - this time constructed with 48 inches of concrete, which still carries Verde River water to us.

The year 1940 marked another turning point in Phoenix life. The city had gone as far as a farming center and then as a distribution center. When the war hit the United States, Phoenix rapidly turned into an embryonic industrial city. Luke Field, Williams Field and Falcon Field, coupled with the giant ground training center at Hyder, west of Phoenix, brought thousands of men into Phoenix. Their needs, both military and personal, were met in part by small industries in Phoenix.

When the war ended, many of these men returned to Phoenix, and families came with them. Suddenly thousands of people were wondering what to do for a living. Large industry, learning of this labor pool, started to move branches here. Smaller plants were started by private capital and initiative. Water again began to run out as it had done several times before, but citizens were more fortunate than the Ho Ho Kam who built the first canals and saw them go dry. Phoenix had the greatness of American technology to fall back on. The era commencing with 1940 marked the end of agriculture's role as our chief provider. It was the beginning of a greater prosperity than Phoenix had ever known.

In 1950, 105,000 people lived within the city limits of Phoenix and thousands more lived immediately adjacent to and depended upon Phoenix for their livelihoods. The city had 148 miles of paved streets and 163 miles of unpaved streets, a total of 311miles of streets within the city limits.

Our state's story continues next month. W

HISTORIC PRESERVATION

the SHORTS SECTION

Experts on Historic Preservation are Ready to Help

Dick Staats (Coronado)

If you've never visited the City of Phoenix office building, drive or walk down to 200 W. Washington. Take an elevator up to the 3rd floor or elevate yourself using the building's grand stairway. Going up the stairway you can observe the Starbucks Coffee Center and all the people coming and going, discussing city projects, chatting about the weather, last night's D-Backs game, or telling stories about their children. I like to pause on the sky walk that juts out to observe the way architects blended the beautifully restored Orpheum Theatre into our city's office building. Can you tell? I love the stairway!

At the 2nd floor level notice all the builders and remodelers, blueprints in hand seeking advice and permits. The stairway delivers you to the 3rd floor. A U-turn to the right takes you past the counter where you may request a copy of the original building permit for your Willo home. Ahead near the elevators look for "Historic Preservation Office" on the glass door. Do you know you may walk in without an appointment 8-12 noon Monday through Friday and meet with one of the staff? Mary will greet you, direct you to sign in, and within a short time you may request the Historic Building Form for your home, ask any question, or be like a child, "This is my first time here. What do you do all day?" Of America's 10 largest cities, I found out that Phoenix protects 40% of historic properties built before 1940. New York protects 4%, Boston 10% and Chicago 2%.

The style of our home at 518 W. Coronado is Monterey. The building permit was issued on April 23 in 1936. It's named the Carl H. Johnson House after the builder. Entire cost to build? $6500. Henry W. and Louis G. Allen were the original owners and lived here for 45 years. Henry was an attorney with Fennemore, Craig, Allen and Bledsoe. A grandson of the Allen's stopped by our house years ago. Now that we've restored the house and built an addition very much in keeping with the original, we want the Allen grandchildren to visit. Then we can learn more about their grandparents and what it was like to live here long before us. When we had our attic vacuumed out, preparing for new insulation, we found a full inch thick hardwood ironing board, which we made into a coffee table. The burn marks are beautiful! Was it one they used? Why was it up in the attic?

We have a light fixture on the end wall of our hallway that is not original to our home. I found it lost and lonely in the junk pile of the old parsonage garage at Faith Lutheran Church. The custodian told me it was the original Chapel entry fixture. I stripped it and had Best Glass cut 5 frosted panels for it. Took it to Stuff Antiques for Joe Weaver to chemically apply a dark brown finish. When I picked it up, he quipped, "Dick, look inside! The back metal panel has ALMONDS 8LBS stamped into it." I told Joe that Faith's Chapel was built in 1946 and he informed me: "Right after the war, metals were not available, so craftsmen used army surplus cans to make light fixtures." The stories of people before us help us understand ourselves in order to live well today. I counted 63 meaningful stories around our house. Think of all the stories living within the historic homes of Willo! Stories nurture relationships. They bind us together. Note the word "story" within the word "historic."

Preserving architecture is the careful work of our city's Historic Preservation Office and many caring home owners, however, the HPO didn't begin until the late 1980's. In my final article, entitled "Who Were the People in Our Neighborhood?" I'll tell you my journey locating the home of a very significant person. He and his family lived on the north side of Cyprus, just west of Central. The home was leveled for a parking lot, but the original driveway entry is still there exactly 36 feet west of the last parking meter.

Much appreciation for historic preservation! Our city's HPO helps us learn about our homes, remodel them appropriately and preserve them. A bull-dozer can no longer level a historic home without approval. Our stories will be remembered, told and seen.

May Flowers Don't Require April Showers

Beth Lewallen (Cambridge)

As a child, May 1st provided an annual opportunity to celebrate flowers. In Prescott, where I grew up, there were many to choose from – mostly wildflowers – and each year my sister and I would collect handfuls to leave at neighbors' doors in celebration and gratitude for their friendship. This time of year it seems that Willo shares the same sentiment. Strolls through the streets offer myriad colors, smells and styles of blooms celebrating the change in seasons. I used to bemoan the lack of spring rain showers that would serve as host to the foliage and flowers I see in other states, but now that I'm a Willo resident I'm grateful for things as they are. Bougainvillea in almost every color of the rainbow peeks out of gates and sprawls across walls, lantana has perked up and those gorgeous pink blossoms wave from branches of Hong Kong Orchid trees. Each of them sends me a May Day message of the camaraderie that makes our neighborhood special. W

Author Jon Talton, whose David Mapstone Mysteries are set in Willo, takes us to the Midwest for Powers of Arrest, the sequel to The Pain Nurse.

In a starred review, Publishers Weekly writes, "The Ohio local color lends depth, and the threat of extreme violence compels, but the novel's chief interest is watching two mature, vulnerable people become real partners whose survival really matters."

Mind Your Speed in Willo

Speed limits are 25 mph...but so many motorists do not observe the speed limit through our neighborhood. Along 3rd & 5th Avenues you will see runners, bikers, strollers, kids and dog walkers and having cars race by is not safe for any of us!

Many speeders are Willo residents...many are commuters to St. Josephs hospital. Our community action officer, Phoenix Police officer Ben Harris, will be conducting radar on our streets in the morning and afternoon hours to help us cut down on speeding through Willo. Please help us keep our neighborhood safe by setting an example of what the speed should be, and also call the Phoenix Police speeding hotline at (602) 534-SPEED (7733) when you observe speeding. The more calls, the more monitoring we will get.
